GET READY FOR THE THRILL OF GREAT AMERICA WEEKEND 2003!

Soaring this season, SUPERMAN-ULTIMATE FLIGHT, Six Flags Great America's newest generation of roller coaster, provides an unparalleled flying experience for all that embark on its journey. Based on the DC Comics Super Hero, SUPERMAN, the World's greatest Super Hero and a timeless American icon, Superman-Ultimate Flight's phenomenal airborne experience provides everyone with the opportunity to soar like a Super Hero. The adventure begins the moment passengers board the sleek, colorful 32-seat train sitting four abreast. The unique seats of this coaster tilt riders face-first into a flying position before they leave the station so that everyone is suspended horizontally from the track above. The anticipation builds as the train climbs the 109-foot lift hill, providing a bird's eye view of the world below. Finally, with arms stretched forward and feet trailing behind, passengers on Superman-Ultimate Flight fly freely like never before. For almost three minutes, the coaster sails through sharp dives, high-banked curves, and spirals uniquely designed to enhance the flying experience. The track is barely visible as riders are transported from a theme park attraction into an adventure that is as imaginative and limitless as any dream of soaring through the sky. A ride on Superman-Ultimate Flight is an experience that no one will ever forget.

Add to your experience with 2001's additions Vertical Velocity (V2) and Deja Vu as well as any of the other world class roller coasters that make up the Great America experience. Kids love Six Flags Looney Tunes National Park and Camp Cartoon Network that feature rides and attractions designed with the smallest guests in mind. The entire family will love Six Flags Great America. The Midwest's premier theme park has something for everyone from the young to the young at heart. With twelve thrilling roller coasters, four drenching water rides, two interactive children's areas, plus spectacular shows and a variety of attractions, guests can enjoy the variety of entertainment Six Flags Great America offers.

Members can share this season's spectacular at IAA, Inc.'s annual Six Flags Great America Outing to be held on Saturday, June 28, or Sunday, June 29. The park opens at 10:00 a.m.

The discounted ticket price is $24 for adults and children. Children 3 years old and under are free. These tickets can be used either June 28 or June 29. Similar to last year, the picnic grove has been reserved for Saturday, June 28, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. A menu of All-U-Can-Eat southern fried chicken, hot dogs, two salads, rolls, and all the soft drinks you want will be served from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m. with a discounted price of $6 per person for adults and children. Again, children 3 years old and under are free. IAA, Inc. members are limited to a maximum of 7 meal tickets at the discounted price. Additional tickets are available with a $4.00 surcharge. "A Bugs Bunny money raffle will highlight picnic grove activities soon after we finish eating," added organizer Marlene Berwald. "Six Flags Great America cartoon characters will mingle with and take pictures with the kids." This is a great time to relax with other I.A.A. members. Hope to see you there!!!

TOP BOWLERS NAMED, BOWLER OF YEAR HONORS TO MICHALAK

The 2002-03 version of the ALL-IAA Bowling Team is a familiar one, as three of the five bowlers have earned honors in previous years.

Jerry Michalak Sr. highlights this year's squad as the IAA Bowler of the Year, edging

Bob Kammer Jr. (2001-02 Bowler of the Year) and ladies phenom Colleen Lidster. Michalak's dominating and balanced season included top-4 finishes in the IAA's World Team Challenge, Master's Invitational, and the IAA Doubles Championships. In addition, Michalak was a member of the IAA's championship entry in the Greater Calumet Area Bowling Association's (GCABA) coveted Proprietors' Cup Championship. Michalak's Plaza IAA team in the Wednesday Men's League shared championship honors. His strong 222 average, though slightly down this season, ranked among the IAA's best, and his 867 series (bowled in a non-IAA league) was the top series posted in the GCABA this season. Surprisingly, this is Michalak's first selection to the All-IAA Team.

Bob Kammer Jr. joins the squad for the fifth consecutive season, following up on his record shattering 2001-02 campaign with one nearly as impressive. Kammer Jr. dominated IAA league competition with his 240.6 average, while posting an IAA best 5 award scores (300, 300, 803, 801, 299). He was a member of Kofoid's Proshop, which placed 2nd and 3rd in the IAA's Team Challenge qualifiers.

Colleen Lidster has been selected for the second time. Lidster's season highlights included her third career IAA 300 game, an IAA record setting series score of 780 (and 776). Her 213 average was high amongst IAA ladies, while her Friday Night Mixed Team - Snafu Crew - were runaway champions. Lidster also rolled games of 299 and 298.

Named to his 8th consecutive All-IAA team, Ricky Woloszyn defines the term "dominant veteran". The IAA's player of the decade (1990-1999) continues to shine into 2003. Woloszyn joined Kammer on the Kofoid's Pro Shop Team, placing 2nd and 3rd in the IAA Team Challenge qualifiers, was runnerup in the IAA Master's, and was a member of the Proprietors' Cup championship team. His 232.8 average was third best during IAA competition.

Ron Johnson Sr., completing his first full season of IAA league competition, was named to the squad in his rookie season. Johnson, a highly respected, talented bowler in northwest Indiana, took the IAA by storm, rolling multiple 300's, an 827 series, and was second in the average race at 233.3. Johnson's 745 series led the Proprietors' Cup team to the title and record shattering 2,821 total.

Congratulations.

BIG SKY MONTANA TRIP

Our adventure started early Saturday morning with Bloody Mary's and Screwdrivers graciously provided by Dave Vignocchi. We were greeted at Billings (a small airport with a small bar/restaurant) by Jeff and Don. It was a long bus ride to Big Sky, but we finally arrived. It was a beautiful sight — the mountain was huge. Thanks to Lisa and Bill, our food and beverages were in our condo waiting for us. On the walk back to the condo, a gentle rain was falling. Not a good sign. . . luckily it turned to snow later in the night. On Sunday, a buffet breakfast was waiting for us. It was great to see people you only see one week a year at Chicago Week. A table was set up for signups for Bridger Bowl, Snowmobiling, Snowshoeing, and Dog Sledding. Members of our club would take advantage of all of these, plus more.

It was time to get ready and start skiing. A short walk and we were on the Bear Back Poma off to the slopes. Patty and I decided to start out with some blue cruisers. The fresh powder made for a great first day of skiing. There were no crowds and you could still find untracked powder late in the day. After a full day skiing, we retreated to the condo to whip up some supper. Steak, potatoes, and fresh salad along with a fine wine really hit the spot. Chicago Week does not let you rest — it was off to the welcome reception at the Huntley Lodge. We talked about our great day on the slopes and what a great place this was.

Monday was race day. It was clear and sunny, just another perfect day in paradise. I hadn't raced in many years and it showed. On my first run, I skied around the finish line when I should have skied through it. My second run was only slightly better. It is a good thing our club has many fine racers to offset us novices. A hearty lunch was served after the race to get everyone energized for an afternoon of perfect skiing. After a long day on the slopes, it was time for a PUB CRAWL. The theme was Western / Rodeo. The mechanical bull never showed up, but two of our junior skiers, Sheriffs Ross and Travis, made up for this by finding more ways to raise money for charity. Tuesday started out cloudy in the morning. Then it started to snow and continued for the rest of the week. I started out the morning with Marley, Diana, Joe, and Tom. Joe and the girls hooked up with Lisa and Tom and I found Cathleen, Mary Kay, Dave B., Nancy, and Mike. We stopped for lunch at Jack Creek Saloon and ran into Bill and Rosemary. Later in the day, Tom and I broke off from the group and hit a few more runs. Unfortunately, it was to be my last run. I took a fall and broke my collarbone. . . my week of skiing came to an abrupt end. My personal thanks to Tom for getting me down the mountain! But the fun never stops; a club spaghetti dinner in our condo was the activity of the night. Everyone showed up and swapped stories of the day. Thanks Patty, Mary Kay, Lisa, Cathleen, Bill, and Rosemary for cooking a great dinner.

On Wednesday, a large group went Snowmobiling, Tom took my place on the sled so Patty still had someone to go with. I heard that the slopes are not the only place people get crazy. Some of our skiers are real hot dogs when they hop on a sled — right Joe and Dave H.? We also had some Snow Shoer's — on Wednesday Mike, Nancy, Mary Kay, and Rosemary took a walk in the mountains. Maybe Dave B. should have joined them; instead he skied with Travis and ended up dislocating his elbow and tearing his ACL. A ride to Bozeman in the ambulance was next for him. That's two down for our group. The healthy ones headed for a gourmet Snow Cat dinner. On Thursday was Race 2 at Chet's Knob, where we sustained our third injury for the week. Sheila sprained her wrist and tore the ACL on her good knee. We definitely enriched the local medical community on our one-week stay. After skiing, there was an Apres Ski party at the Peaks; I heard the food went fast, but the drinks kept flowing.

Friday was another snow-filled day. Lynne and Jean went Dog Sledding, which entailed riding on the sled part time and running the dog team the rest of the time. Friday was also our farewell awards dinner. Inland took home a large number of awards, with some taking home more than one. Travis and Ross were also presented with awards for their fundraising efforts. On Saturday, it was time to leave Big Sky and head back to the real world and our everyday lives. The bus picked us up around 9:30 AM, and we headed back to Billings. Some people slept, some people licked their wounds, and for some the party never ends. The bar at Billings Airport sucked in some of our members, but they made the last boarding call.

In summation, this had to be one of the best trips for snow conditions, getting 13 inches one night and getting 3 to 8 inches of new snow almost every day. The injury rate was more than expected, which was unfortunate. On the plus side, the 4 of 6 day lift tickets worked all 6 days. Next year, Telluride, I hope you can make it. See you at Rodney's April 11; bring your photos and share your experiences.

GOLF STAY AND PLAY AUGUST 23-24, 2003

This year, the I.A.A will be offering to its general membership a golf weekend a little closer to home. The chosen courses are the Coyote Crossing and at least one of the Purdue Birkboilermaker Golf Complex courses. Coyote crossing has been ranked no.1 in Indiana by Golf Digest. The Purdue courses, North Kampen and South Ackerman courses, are very nice courses. The Kampen is a links course, and I hear your sand wedge should get a work out. I am told the Ackerman is hilly with trees and has very nice scenery. We will be staying within 5 miles of Coyote Crossing right off of Interstate 65 in Lafayette, IN. Don't miss this opportunity to play these courses at a DISCOUNTED GROUP RATE and in addition receive SAVINGS to the trip's cost via your I.A.A membership. The cost of the trip is $125 each person @ 4 per room, $135 each @ 3 per room, $145 each @ 2 per room, and $195 each @ 1 per room, all of which will include Saturday night lodging, one round of golf with cart on Saturday, one round of golf with cart on Sunday, and a continental breakfast buffet, and prizes for the participants. Also, based on availability are discounted replay rounds of golf and additional nights of lodging. We also will be doing a raffle for prizes and trip discounts. Sign up early (prior to June 30) and receive one FREE raffle ticket for a chance to win $25 off the trip. For more information, you may contact Joe Sarwacinski at 844-5854 or Lisa Sarwacinski at 399-5769. Also, you can look for sign-ups at the I.A.A golf outings and leagues as well as the I.A.A web site, WWW.IAA.INLAND.COM. Availability will be on a first come, first serve basis.

VOLLEY GIRLS WRAP UP SEASON

The Women's Volleyball season ended on March 27, 2003. This year, we had a blast and enjoyed several new members. Fifteen weeks of play and the top three teams are as follows:

- 1st Place - Comadres with 37 wins
- 2nd Place - Joanie Boanie with 32 wins
- 3rd Place - Diamond Girls with 22 wins.

"I would like to say a big thank you to all five teams and especially to Mario Gomez for helping each week putting up the nets. Each year, these girls get better and better. Some of our members have been in our league for ten years or better. Our season should start about the end of September or beginning of October. I will be stepping down as your chairperson and handing the league over to Leticia Torres, who will be assisted by Mona Martinez. Thanks for all your support and help over the years. I am sure the new chairperson for next year will have as much fun as I have had in the past years. Hope to see everyone next year." stated chairperson Linda Cox.
